Former Ambassador of Costa Rica to the WTO and Partner at IDEAS Centre, Ronald Saborío Soto was awarded on 10 March 2016 the Manuel María de Peralta Prize of International Law. This prize is granted by the Costa Rican Association of International Law (Asociación Costarricense de Derecho Internacional, ACODI) once every two years to a Costa Rican citizen noted for her/his contribution to international law.

The ceremony took place at the facilities of the Lead University in San José, Costa Rica. For the year 2015, Mr Ronald Saborío Soto was selected for the substantial role he played for more than 20 years as Ambassador of Costa Rica to the WTO, where he acted as negotiator at both the Uruguay and Doha rounds. Furthermore, Mr Saborío is also acknowledged for bringing closer Costa Rica to the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) as well as paving the way for the accession to the OECD.

In light of the foregoing, the ACODI Board considered that his professional and academic career is a faithful representation of the spirit of excellence that the ACODI seeks to recognise ACODI.
